WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 26, 1818.

[No. 5815.]

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS. is recommended
Hahn's ANTIBILIOUS PILLS
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West India and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably effectual in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

fords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unof the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

To the friends of Humanity.

A Naged, infirm, and widowed mother, is desirous to receive information of THOMAS BURTON CARTER, an only son, concerning whom she has not heard any thing, on which reliance can be placed, for nearly three years. He removed from this place to the state of Ohio about five years ago. The last certain account she had from him, was from Cadiz in that state. He is about twenty five years of age; by trade a tailor. Vague rumour has recently pronounced him dead. A letter communicating information relative to him, directed to Henry Tutwiler, P. M. at this place, would confer a peculiar kindness on an afflicted woman.
Editors of Newspapers generally, are intreated to give this article a place in their columns a few weeks.

French Creek Boarding School.

The following is published for the information of Parents:

HAVING long believed that a School on a plan different from most others in many respects, would be beneficial to society, and apprehending that with all its cares, and the responsibility inseparable from such a concern, I could more cheerfully devote my time to the education of children than to any other business, I have concluded to establish a BOARDING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS—With this view I have purchased the FRENCH CREEK FARM, four miles east of the yellow springs, on the Norristown and Philadelphia road, situated in Pike-land and Vincent townships, Chester county, twenty-seven miles from Philadelphia, combining many conveniences for the support of such an institution; and having let the farm, etc. in a way calculated to supply the family with provisions, I propose to devote my attention, with the aid of suitable assistants, to the education of the children who may be placed under my care.

In selecting the pupils, it is not proposed to be governed entirely by their age, nor to require that they shall all be members of the religious society of Friends; but as the school rules will be very few and simple, and very simple, that none may be sent contrary to their own inclination, nor any one who would not be likely to be good examples to the other scholars, and treat them with kindness and affection.

The price for board and tuition will be two hundred Dollars per annum, one quarter always to be paid in advance—no restrictions respecting the kind of clothing are intended, for respecting the frequency of the changes that parents may require; the washing will be charged at the ordinary price per dozen—children may be admitted for one quarter only, and such as are entered for a longer period, may nevertheless be removed at the expiration of any quarter.
The communication with Philadelphia will be frequent and easy by stage, and a house of entertainment kept by the farmer for the accommodation of persons having business at the school.

Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English Grammar, Geography and the use of Maps and globes, will be taught, together with such other branches as the progress of the children and experience may render expedient. The school to open the first of the 5th month next. For further information apply to Edward Stabler, Alexandria, or to

PROPOSALS
for publishing by subscription, a new work, entitled

THE TREASURE OF HEALTH;

A complete collection of the most valuable secrets in medicine, for the cure of all diseases, wounds and other accidents to which the human body is subject; with the method of preparing, and instructions for using, the necessary remedies.
Also, the best preservatives against the plague, small pox, and all other kinds of contagious diseases.—Discovered after much research and experience by the most skillful physicians in Europe, and employed with the greatest success; and unknown till the present time in the United States.

Carefully collected, by a Benevolent Society, and faithfully translated from the French, and other foreign languages, And published for the benefit of humanity,
BY LEWIS MERLIN.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The work which is this day offered for public usefulness, ought not to be looked upon as those which a desire of gain bring forth every day among us. This is a rare and precious collection of the most valuable secrets in medicine, which the most skillful physicians have discovered after long researches, labor and experience. It is, without contradiction, the first of the kind that has ever appeared within the United States of America, and a treasure which every head of a family could not too much appreciate; as it points out the symptoms of several diseases, of which many persons are only acquainted with their names; 2d, the receipt of the quantity and quality of the drugs that are made use of; 3d, their preparations so carefully described and detailed that the least intelligent person cannot be mistaken; and finally the necessary doses and the manner of administering them. One may rest assured that all in this collection is easy to put into practice, the expense is trifling because all the simples and plants which compose the greatest part of the recipes it contains, may be found in the fields and in the gardens; in a ring, in a short time, all the diseases and evils with which one may be afflicted, and at a low expense.

It is to a benevolent society we are indebted for such a precious treasure.
Their whole good wish towards suffering humanity, induced that society to spare neither pains, care nor expense in obtaining from all parts of the globe, and to give in one and only collection, a valuable and complete selection of receipts for the cure of all diseases with which the human body is every day afflicted, which their renowned virtues, the repeated experience that has been made of them, even on patients who had been given up by their physicians, and the cures resulting from them, have caused them to be adopted as sovereign and infallible remedies.

Amongst the great number of diseases that have been cured by these inestimable secrets, we shall only name some of them, of which the foreign journals and American newspapers have borne the most authenticated testimony, such as apoplexy, asthma, bilious, windy and nephretic colic, consumption of lungs, debility, dysentery, diarrhoea, dropsy in the breast, in the brain, compound dropsy, anar-sarque of ascites, epilepsy, diseases of the eyes, intermittent, tertian, quar-tan, continual and inflammatory fevers, malignant, spotted and scarlet fevers, lues (so fatal to children), inflammation of the bowels, of the liver and lungs, gangrene, itch, jaundice, fits, hooping-cough, lethargy, leprosy, rheumatism, pulmonary, scurvy, swellings, sore throat, worms, tape-worm, complaints of the bowels, looseness or bloody flux, folly or madness originated after a sequel of disease, or through an intemperate use of spirituous liquors, cold and sciatic gouts, gravel, gonorrhoea, hydrophobia, bite of venomous animals, hemorrhage, palpitation of the heart, stone, &c. &c.

This precious collection contains likewise a great number of receipts for preparing several kinds of balsam, ointment or salves, with the manner of using them, and the effects of which are so surprising, that they cure in a very short time, the cancers, without the assistance of any operation; the king's evil, tetters or ring's worm, wens; all sorts of cuts, wounds, however large and deep they may be, both inward and outward hemorroids, all pains and swellings arising from rheumatism, all kinds of burns, all catarrhs of the eyes, even those that deprive of the sight; all sores that come on women's breasts; all kinds of sore legs and ulcers, however old they may be; chancres, bu-boes, and other venereal disorders; they join the nerves again, when they have been cut or broken in any manner whatever; they strengthen weak nerves and prevent the palsy whenever one is threatened with it; they draw out broken bones and all other foreign bodies that may be in sores or wounds; in short, these ointments or salves do possess such a virtue against the gangrene, that many persons being at the point of having their legs, hands or fingers cut off, have been entirely cured by the application of these ointments alone.

In this interesting work will be also found the inestimable receipt of the grand preventives against the plague, pestilential, spotted and other fevers, small pox, and all kinds of contagious diseases; their preparations with the manner of making use of them both inwardly and outwardly, as well to preserve ourselves against the contagion as to be cured whenever one is afflicted with them; and wonderful and most valuable secrets in medicine —always employed with success, and never failed to cure in epidemic and contagious diseases, and unknown to the present time in the United States of America.

In short, the famous and renowned symp of long life, or the great preservator of health, whose extraordinary virtues have drawn the attention of a great number of physicians, although the desire of gain has endeavored to counterfeit or imitate it, but always without success. That receipt so very simple, so very easy to prepare, and of a good taste, was given by an old gentleman of one hundred and thirty-two years of age, who began to make use of it at the age of 60 without his having ever experienced the least inconvenience. The good effects produced on the persons who have made use of it are so well known that no more need to be said on that subject; and although this work contains a great number more of other receipts and other matters not less interesting for the human body, we shall not dwell any longer on the benefits arising to the public out of this precious collection; because it is only by putting what is taught in it into practice, that the public will be convinced of the truth that there is no quackery nor deception in all that has been said, but many truths which could not be too much appreciated.

We recommend this work to heads of families, more particularly to those who reside in the country, who owing to their situation are often deprived of medical assistance in cases of the most urgent necessity; it is likewise of the greatest utility to those who through their profession are obliged to visit the sick; as also to the ministers and pastors of congregations, who in their situation are likewise obliged to afford relief to suffering humanity; in short, it could not be too much recommended to captains, masters of vessels, seafaring men and other travellers, who frequent warm climates, as well as to those persons who have a desire to preserve their own health; so much the more, as (we repeat it again) that all therein contained is easy to put in practice, and the expense is small.

As the publication of this work is not an object of a pecuniary speculation, but the welfare of humanity generally, we have endeavored, as well as the expense has permitted, to fix the price of subscription as low as possible, in order that the poor as well as the rich may be able to obtain it, and experience its good effects principally in warm seasons, and in cases of contagious diseases.

CONDITION.

To render this work more portable, and comply with the wishes of many persons, it will form a large volume in 12mo. to be printed on good paper and good type, and delivered neatly bound and lettered to subscribers at 150 cents, to non-subscribers, the price will be enhanced to two dollars, and the profit arising from it will be for the benefit of the poor.

As soon as the subscription will be sufficient to defray the expense of printing, the work will be put to press and distributed as soon as circumstances will permit.

To prevent counterfeiting this work, the copy right has been secured according to law; and moreover each copy shall be signed by the person who has the sole direction of superintending the publication of it.

TO A COQUETTE.

Time will steal the rosy hue That blows so sweetly on thy cheek;
He will dim those eyes of blue—Quench their beams that brightly speak; Where thy glossy ringlets flow, Soon his hand will scatter snow.

Age, that steals with silent tread, All thy dimpled smiles will blight;
Many a furrow will be spread O'er thy bosom's heaving white—Scatch, from under lips so fair, The pearly treasure lying there.

When the ruin thou shalt view,
Of all that Love so much could prize; Sighs thy bosom shall subdue, Bitter tears shall swell thine eyes; Thou shalt sigh and weep in vain, Youth can never come again!

Mark, my fair, the vernal rose, Nursling of the dews of Heaven, Bountiful, to air it throws All the sweets by nature given;
And when o'er her rich perfume, Still it leaves its buds to bloom!

From the Charleston Times.

There is a genuine and unaffected air of prosperity and happiness in the state and character of the times—in the circumstances and condition of all classes of society in our country—that cannot fail to strike the attention of the most superficial observer, and to encourage and refresh the drooping spirit of humanity with feelings of the most cordial and unmixed delight. Borne down as it has, by the most intolerable and oppressive burthens, and writhing as it is, under the monstrous and accumulating weight of national and individual misery, in the old world, it looks with the rapture of re-kindled hope to the lovely shores and sun bright beauties of our happier clime. Bitter as are the fountains, from whose foul and distempered waters, it has been forced to drink so profusely of moral and intellectual debasement, it may yet find in the pure and unadulterated spring, the Fosses BAPTISTE of the Western world, enough of that ethereal spirit of and without which, existence wants every charm that can make its endurance desirable.

A combination of the most felicitous circumstances conspire to render our situation as a people, as perfectly happy, as the nature and condition of human society can possibly admit. Every thing around us wears a calm, clear brow, of placid, undisturbed serenity of soul. Blessed in our disposition and temper at home, and honored in our relations abroad, we sit under the shade of our vine and our olive, in the smile of Heaven and the glory of earth. There are none to disturb or to make us afraid. With a constitution of government, springing, as it were, from the very hearts of the people, all our political institutions are objects of the most devotional affection. Our rulers possess the confidence, the love, and the esteem of the nation. Commerce spreads her white wings to every favoring gale, and visits every dist of sea. Agriculture piles its voice offerings on every plain, and health scatters its fragrance on every passing breeze. We are not cursed with the cruel exactions, or crushed into nothingness by the inexorable despotism of a cold-hearted, calculating and unfeeling profligacy of power; nor are we chained to the chariot wheels of conquerors, the melancholy and distracted victims of an overwhelming military ascendancy. We are not obliged to support a soldiery, whose haughty and offending front is an insult to the national honor; nor are we taxed with contributions for the array of armies acting like sentinels upon our liberties. We have the capacity to value, and it is fortunate for us that the fatality of circumstances has not deprived us of the spirit, to protect the solid chrysolite of our national independence.

RECIPES FOR WHITE PLASTER.
Take Plaster of Paris, very finely ground, put it into a common pot or kettle, and hang it over a moderate fire to boil or dry it, stir it continually, to prevent it from burning, until it boils like hasty pudding. When it is boiled or dried enough, mix it with other paint; for the first coat, about half plaster and half white; for the second coat, plaster with a small quantity of white lead; and for the third, which will be light, about half plaster and half lead. This makes an excellent paint, far preferable to that made of white lead for duration.

How beauteous mankind is! O brave new world, That has such people in it!

As we have not yet had, in this country, the advantage of seeing the books from the Reviews of which we take these extracts, we are under the necessity of taking the summary of these happy islanders' characters upon the authority of the reviewers who have read the whole, and on this point the Edinburgh critics speak thus: "But it is not only their manners and their tempers that are thus singularly agreeable; their dispositions seem to be thoroughly amiable and gentle, and their honesty and integrity without blemish. During six weeks continual intimacy, our adventurers never saw any thing approaching to an affray, nor any punishment inflicted on a fellow man, or the least of a fan; and not an article of any kind was stolen, or suspected to be stolen, though every thing was exposed in a way that might have tempted persons in whose eyes most of them must have been less rare and precious. To complete this picture of the golden age, it is stated that the chiefs never once appeared, to treat the inferior people with harshness or severity; that there was nothing like poverty or distress of any kind to be seen—no deformed persons, and very little appearance of disease, and finally that they have no arms of any sort for offence or defence, and positively denied having any knowledge of war, either by experience or tradition. It is at least equally certain that they have no knowledge of, or regard for money, as they appeared to set no value whatever either on the dollars or gold pieces that were offered them by the navigators; and it was understood that any little simple traffic they carry on, is managed in the way of barter. As to their knowledge and attainments, they manufacture salt—build stone arches—cultivate their fields, for rice, millet, sugar and other crops, with great neatness—weave and stain their cotton clothes with singular taste—and embroider their girdles and pouches with a great deal of fancy and elegance."

As the name of Madera has been mentioned in a way that must have interested the reader, something more will be expected on this subject. "The most remarkable person that appeared, (says the Edinburgh Review,) was a chief of the name of Madera, who for several weeks dissembled his high rank, and in the habit of the lower orders, attracted the notice of every one by his singular curiosity and intelligence, and ingratiated himself with every one by his extreme good humor, kindness and habits of accommodation. In English as to be able to converse very intelligibly, and on many occasions to perform the part of an interpreter; and in a far shorter time he had so perfectly familiarized himself with their usages, as to have no appearance whatever of awkwardness or embarrassment in the society of the travellers."

"The great interest, (says Captain Hall) which Madera took in the English, and the curiosity he always expressed about our customs at home, suggested the idea of our taking him with us to England, where he would have been an interesting specimen of a people so little known; and he also might have carried back knowledge of the greatest use to his country. When it was proposed to him, he paused for some minutes, and then shaking his head, said, 'I go Ingeree, father, mother, child, wife, house, all cry—not go; no, no, all cry!'"

The parting scene between these amiable people and their affectionate visitors, shows this distinguished character in a still more engaging light, and is altogether, (says the reviewer) exceedingly touching and pleasing. It does one's heart good to read such passages as the following—though it is painful to think how seldom they can be written with truth, and how rare it is to find a brave and hardy seaman like Captain Hall, able to do them such justice in the expression.

"While we were at dinner, Madera came into the Alceste's cabin, for the purpose of asking some questions about the sextant. He had not been aware of our being at dinner, and looked shocked at having intruded; and when we invited him to sit down, politely but firmly declined. From the cabin he went to the gun-room, to see his friend Mr. Hopper, the junior lieutenant of the Alceste, with whom he had formed a great friendship. Mr. Hopper gave him a picture of the Alceste, and some other presents, upon which Madera, who was much affected, said, 'to-morrow ship go sea; I go my father house, two day distance; when I see my father, I show your present, and I tell him, me, Henry Hopper all same as brothers'—and he burst in tears."

"Sunday, October 27. At day break we unmoored; and the natives on seeing us take up our anchors, thought we were going to get under weigh immediately, and gave them the slip, which was not at all intended. This alarm, however, brought the chief off in a great hurry; not in a body, in their usual formal way, but one by one, in separate canoes. Old Iema called on board the Lyras on his way to the frigate; he was a good deal agitated; and the tears came into his eyes when I put a ring on his finger. He gave me in return his knife."

"The other chiefs called alongside on their way to the frigate, but went on when I told them that I was just going to the Alceste myself. In the mean time, Madera came on board, with the sextant in his hand; he was in such distress that he scarcely knew what he was about. In this distracted state, he sat down to breakfast with us, during which he continued lighting his pipe and smoking as fast as he could—drinking and eating whatever was placed before him. After he had a little recovered himself, he asked what books it would be necessary to read to enable him to make use of the sextant. I gave him a nautical almanac, and told him he must understand that in the first instance, he opened it, and looking at the figures, held up his hands in despair, and was at last forced to confess that it was a hopeless business. He therefore put the sextant up, and bade us farewell. Before he left the Lyras, he gave Mr. Clifford his pipe, tobacco pouch and a crystal ornament, saying, as he held out the last, 'you go Ingeree, you give this to your child.' Mr. Clifford gave him a few presents in return, and expressed his anxiety to be considered his friend. Madera, with the tears streaming down his cheeks, placed his hands several times upon his heart, and cried, 'Eedooheeh, eedooheeh!' my friend, my friend! To me he gave a Lin and a picture of an old man looking up at the sun; drawn, he said, by himself; he probably meant in his picture some allusion to my usual occupation at the observatory. After he had put off in his boat he called out, 'Ingeree poo choo sibi-tee yootoochee.'—I shall ever remember the English people. When he went to the Alceste, one of the chiefs remarked that he had neither his hatchet nor his bow, nor his robes, and told him that it was not respectful to wait upon Captain Maxwell for the last time in his ordinary dress, particularly as all the others were in full array. Madera, who poor fellow had been too much concerned about other matters to think of dress, was shocked at this apparent want of politeness, and went immediately to apologize to Captain Maxwell, who took him by the hand, and gave him a present, telling him at the same time that he was always too happy to see him to notice what dress he had on. In the mean time, the anchor was hove up, and every thing being ready for making sail, the chiefs rose to take leave. Ookoome wished to say something, but was too much affected to speak, and before they reached their boats, they were all in tears. Madera cried bitterly as he shook hands with his numerous friends, who were loading him with presents. The chiefs, as well as the people in the numerous canoes which had assembled round the ships, stood up, and continued waving their fans and handkerchiefs till we were beyond the reefs, and could see them no longer."

MEMBERS OF THE 16th CONGRESS.
Henry Clay, of Kentucky, is re-elected without opposition.

Thomas Metcalf is elected a member from Kentucky, by a considerable majority, over Mr. Dusha, the present member. Thomas Butler is elected in Louisiana, to succeed Mr. Robertson, who declined. The following are the names of the members who will be heard from, which could not affect the result, as the time allowed by law for the returns to be sent in, had expired:

Thomas Butler	1866
Edw. Livingston	1384
J. S. Johnson	810

A public dinner was given at Frankfort, Kentucky, on the 30th ult. to Mr. Clay and Col. R. M. Johnson, in testimony of the high respect for their public services. Previous engagements, however, prevented Col. Johnson from being present at the dinner. [Ibid.]

FATAL ACCIDENTS.
Mr. Alexander Melvin, a very promising and much respected youth, of Georgetown, was killed on Friday last by the accidental discharge of his gun, while he was crossing the river on a shooting excursion.

On the same day, a little colored boy, who, with many others, had climbed upon the outer works of the public baths, to witness the ascent of a balloon from the yard of the adjoining hotel, accidentally removed some covering from the large boiler in which the water is heated for the baths, and fell into it. He was immediately taken out, but having plunged entirely under the boiling water, he was so badly scalded that he survived but a few hours. [Ibid.]

COUNTERFEITING.

The perfection to which this art has arrived, and the extent and success with which it is practised, is truly alarming to the community, and calls loudly for public vigilance and attention. There is not a day that passes, during which we do not hear of the arrest of some villain in our neighborhood for counterfeiting, or find about some new denomination of counterfeit paper. There is not a mail that arrives, which does not bring us some dozen fresh instances of the prevalence of this abominable species of crime, and the ingenious devices resorted to by swindlers to impose upon that part of the community who are the least able to sustain the loss.

Until within a few years, the science of counterfeiting has been so imperfectly understood, and the spurious paper so clumsily executed, that none but poor judges of bank-paper, and comparatively but few of these, were imposed upon; but within a few months, the case has been greatly altered. Engravings are now so accurately executed, and signatures imitated with such precision, that the best judges, and frequently the banks themselves, have been deceived. Thus, no person, unless he makes the study of bank-paper his business or profession, can safely pay away, or receive, the paper currency of our country.

This deplorable state of things certainly renders vigilance among our police officers in large towns, and the officers and ministers of justice in the country, doubly necessary. Indeed, it is much to be regretted that before this late period, some general and uniform system or plan of operations has not been adopted throughout the United States, for the detection and apprehension of counterfeiters. And again, on the part of the banks, as they are all interested in a great degree, it is very singular that some method has not been devised to render the counterfeiting of any of their bills extremely difficult, if not impracticable. It really appears to us, that if the banks would come to some understanding upon this point, a method could without difficulty be devised in the manufacture of bank-notes, that would place it in the power of every one to detect spurious paper at the first glance.

We are glad to see that the subject of Counterfeiting is, as it ought, engaging the attention of the public. The above article from the Evening Post encourages us to submit the following thoughts:—

Suppose all the banks in the city of Philadelphia were to appoint special delegates, which delegates should appoint sub-committees to make inquiry of artists, &c. as to the best means to prevent counterfeiting, and to inquire of magistrates, police officers, &c. as to the most effectual means of detecting and bringing to justice those concerned in making, vending or passing counterfeit bank notes. When those committees have matured all the evidence and information within their reach, let them embody it in a report to the delegates. When among them it has received that consideration to which it is entitled, let them act upon the reports of the committees, and then appoint from their own body three of the most intelligent members to meet in convention with the delegates which may be or shall have been appointed in all the principal cities on the sea-board, in each of which we presume similar measures to those in Philadelphia to have been adopted.

When all the bank delegates from the different cities shall have assembled at an appointed place in general convention, let them appoint a sub-committee to whom shall be referred all the reports and propositions which shall have been matured in and transmitted by the state conventions; let this sub-committee, before they prepare their report to the general convention, gather together all the information possible, and having embodied it in their report, let them conclude by submitting certain plans for the consideration of the general convention, taking care that a joint fund for the detection, arrest, and prosecution of counterfeiters, shall constitute one of the propositions. Such meetings, organized for such purposes, could not but be productive of great benefit to the banks and to the community, and the banks owe it to the community to adopt some plans to guard them against the extensive system of counterfeiting which is now in operation.

From the New-York Daily Advertiser.
Mr. Canning, during the late election in Liverpool, in one of his addresses to the electors, appears to have brought fully into action the risible faculties of his hearers, by advertising to the cries for Parliamentary Reform—Mr. Canning said—

"Of the plans of Parliamentary Reform on which, in my place in Parliament, I have had occasion to comment, I have commented on none with more indignation and rebuke than on that which, admitting the whole population to a vote, presumptuously excluded women from a right of suffrage, falsely denominated universal. (Much laughter.)—I do not mean to say, for I will not flatter even the fair part of my auditors, at the expense of truth (at least before so large an assembly as this)—I do not mean to say that even the system of elective franchise would entirely reconcile me to an extension of it, which, I think, would be full of mischief. But there is one pledge which I am quite ready to give, and which I trust, they will think satisfactory; that I never will consent to any plan of universal suffrage in which they are not included. (Applause and laughter.)"

Captain Rich, who went from here a few days since, in pursuit of the sea serpent, writes the concern as follows:

"Squam River, Aug. 20th, 12 o'clock—After several unsuccessful attempts, we have at length fastened to this strange being called a sea serpent. We struck him fairly, but the harpoon soon drew out. He has not been seen since, and I fear the wound he received will make him more cautious how he approaches these shores. Since my last yesterday, we have been constantly in pursuit of him by day; he always keeps a proper distance from us, to prevent our striking him. But a few hours since, I thought we were sure of him, for I hove the harpoon into him as fairly as ever a whale was struck; took from us about 20 fathoms of warp before we could wind the boat, with as much swiftness as a whale. We had but a short ride when we were all loose from him, to our sore disappointment."

"RICH'D RICH."

"Gloucester, August 20—As I thought it would be interesting to you to hear from Capt. Rich, and as he is at some distance, I will give you some particulars of his cruise. On Monday last, he sailed from this in a large whale boat, and two smaller ones, well manned. My brother commanded one of the boats. Yesterday they met the Serpent off Squam, and chased him about seven hours, when they closed with him. He passed directly under the bows of Capt. Rich's boat; he immediately threw the harpoon, which pierced him about two feet; he drew the boat a considerable distance, but went with such velocity that he broke that part of the boat through which the rope passed, and drew out the harpoon. I hope they will have another opportunity before they give up the chase. He has no scales on him, and no bunches on his back, but his skin is smooth, and looks similar to an eel. In the attack, Capt. Rich had one of his hands wounded. These particulars I have in a letter from my brother."

At a meeting of the trustees of the Alexandria Academy, held on the 21st of August, 1818—

The following Address to the citizens of the town, was adopted by the Board, and ordered to be published:—

The trustees of the Alexandria Academy, impressed in common with their fellow-citizens with the great and lasting importance of education, especially to a people whose fundamental principles of government are those of equal liberty, justice and order, on the support of which rest all our republican institutions, and from which flow public as well as private happiness, have at different times made various efforts to place the Academy upon a more useful and respectable establishment, than it has heretofore been. They have with regret seen their well meant efforts, for want of that support which all who wish well to their beloved offspring ought to afford. The trustees cannot continue their efforts to sustain the Academy, without other means than those they have heretofore resorted to. They would therefore respectfully represent to their fellow-citizens of the town, the necessity there is of some effort on their part to enable the trustees to make such a change in the house and institution, as will render them generally useful. The form of the house is inconvenient; it is in such a state of decay as to be unfit for use, and is a discredit to the town. The institution requires certain necessary apparatus, and additional instructors. To effect these objects, funds are necessary, which cannot, as experience has clearly shown, be raised solely from the price of tuition. It is confidently believed that the trustees in making this appeal to the parental feelings and liberality of the citizens of the town, will not appeal in vain, especially when they reflect, that by placing the Academy in their own town on a respectable footing, they will be relieved in a great measure from the necessity of sending their children to distant places for instruction, at a much greater expense than that at which they could be educated at home, and in many instances at the very dear price of the loss of their moral principles.

The law incorporating the Academy declares that all persons, and their respective heirs, who shall contribute five pounds to the use of the Academy, shall have the right to vote at all elections of trustees. Trusting that every citizen who values the blessing of education, the good of society, and the happiness and respectability of his children, will contribute liberally towards so desirable an object, the trustees have appointed some of their own body to wait upon their fellow-citizens with a subscription paper for that purpose.

business. There is an excellent spring of water on the place, excelled perhaps by none in the state of Virginia. The distance from Georgetown, Washington or Aticipates a share of public patronage, which he hopes his assiduity to business will just-

Exchange & Broker's Office, Georgetown, District of Columbia.
ROMULUS RIGGS.
AT his office, next door below Craw-ford's tavern, Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U.
States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and West, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for travellers to the large commercial and Atlantic towns.—All persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on.

A BSCONDED from the subscriber's service, on Saturday night the 15th inst. Negro woman TREACE or TREACY —she is five feet two or three inches high, about 30 years of age, of a very dark complexion, and when particularly examined is very apt to confound herself.—It is deemed unnecessary to mention her clothing, as she has all of them with her, and being extremely artful, she no doubt will change them and endeavor to pass for a free woman. She is well acquainted in Charles county, Prince George's, Alexandria and the City, as about 5 years ago she made her escape, and was 6 or 7 months about the Lower Ferry, leading to Alexandria, and from thence to Washington City, where she acquired an extensive acquaintance among the Negroes belonging to said Brent, esq.; and the great pretence of said Negroes belong now to William and Robert Brent, esqrs. and Mr. Dudley Diggs.
Negro Treace has a scar on the back part of her neck, occasioned by a scorpion put for the benefit of her eyes, which are very weak at this time. I will give 10 dollars if taken in the county and secured in jail, or if out of the county and secured as aforesaid, so that I get her again, 25 dollars, and all reasonable charges paid if brought home. All persons are forewarned harboring or employing said Negro at their peril, as the law will be rigorously put in force against any offender.

Piano-Fortes and Organs.
THE subscriber, who carries on the manufacture of these instruments in N.
York, is now in Alexandria, where he will remain a short time, during which he will attend to repair, regulate the action and improve their tones and musical effects.— A specimen of his work and abilities may be examined in the store second door below the Mechanics' Bank, King street, where he offers for sale two of his Piano-Fortes at the New-York prices—one of them an elegant upright grand, of a full bodied mellow tone and brilliant touch—the other is of the horizontal sextagon form, highly finished, with extra additional keys.
He warrants them perfectly sound, and of the first quality.—He will allow in exchange a fair price for old pianos or organs, being such as he approves.—He also has for sale a few fine toned old violins and elegant bows, and concert flutes.—He is perfectly acquainted with the harpsichord construction, and offers to put them in complete order.
Orders left at the store, or at Mr. Aber-crombie's, cabinet-maker, or at Capt. Nelson's, King street, will be promptly attended to on his return to New-York.

RAN away from the subscriber on Saturday night the 27th ult., a Negro man by the name of JACOB THOMPSON, aged 22 or 23, nearly 6 feet high, very black, and rather a down look when spoken to—he is very apt to put one hand up to his chin when answering questions. He is a very submissive orderly fellow.—His clothing that can be recollected consisted of a blue second cloth coat with yellow buttons, nearly new; Russia sheeting shirts and trousers, and a variety of other clothing not recollected. I fully expect he must have from 150 to 200 dollars with him in money—and very little doubt but he had furnished himself with free papers. Whoever takes up the said fellow, secures him in jail, and retains all moneys and papers he may have on him, shall be entitled to the money found on him, and the above reward if taken out of the District, or twenty dollars if taken within the District of Ten Dollars Reward.

WILL be given by the subscriber, living near Haymarket, in Princewilliam which strayed or was stolen from him, on the night of the 13th of April last. The above named horse is 5 or 6 years old, of blood bay color, 15 hands high, long switch tail, rubbed on the left side by the harness of the cart or wagon, in either of which he had been used to draw; he has no white marks or brand, and the hair on the top of the head between the ears is worn short.

August 10 SUSANNAH F. GRAHAM.

The Improved Patent Plough.
THE expensive force necessary for ploughing in the common way, has been long known and lamented by farmers.
Many attempts have been made to obviate that inconvenience, by the construction of a plough on Mechanical principles, and patents have been granted to applicants who profess to have improved on that agricultural implement. These improvements are now before the public, the proper arbiters in such cases, who will approve or condemn according to the merits or demerits of the performance.
I, also, have become a candidate for public patronage, and shall attempt to explain and give reasons to show at least some advantages which I think my plough possesses over any other now in use.
For its durability and simplicity of construction, its first excellence, no plough now in use surpasses it—but its chief advantages lie in the ease with which it breaks and inverts the soil, and will plough in clover or grass land of any kind without being clogged or choked.—These properties arise from the mechanical principles on which it is formed. The wedge is said to possess the requisite properties for breaking and raising the soil with the least applicable force. This plough is so formed as to form a wedge with the mould-board, which raises the earth gradually to the greatest perpendicular height, when by a regular turn of the mould-board it is inverted, rendering the pressure inconsiderable, and consequently the force necessary to draw it proportionally small. The beam is made of iron or wood, and has a considerable curve, which permits all vegetable matter to pass off. I would recommend the iron beam, as it has several advantages over the wood, and the difference of expense small.
I have thought it a duty to my fellow citizens to publish a few lines of instruction to facilitate the mode of using and repairing the same. Before the plough is used, the mould-board should be scoured with free stone or a well burnt brick and water until it is perfectly smooth. The horses should draw by a double or treble tree, which is confined to the clevis or beam by an opening. The point and share should be laid with steel when necessary; the latter must be kept level with the bar, and the point inclined a little down. If this be well attended to by the good husbandman, he will be able to eat the 'fatted calf', when the indolent will sink into want.
These ploughs will be furnished at my shop in this County and in Alexandria by James Atkinson, near Poston's tavern, Peyton street.

Plaster Land.

The subscriber offers for sale a FARM of 430 acres, being part of the tract whereon he resides, in Fauquier county, Va. More than one-third of this farm is in timber, and is land of the richest quality. The cleared land is in good heart, having the advantage of a clover lay, and no soil being more susceptible of plaster improvement. He would also dispose of a lot of 50 acres, the whole of which is in timber, and is first-rate tobacco and meadow land. On this lot has been erected a well built saw mill, contiguous to which at the confluence of Broad and Mill (run) is a most valuable site for a merchant mill. No property is better worth the attention of a person wishing to engage in such business. BILL IN CHANCERY.

Robert Perry versus

James B. Dunnington, Robert Dunnington, Francis Taylor and Elizabeth B. his wife, James Bl-tham and Catharine his wife, William Simmons and Esther his wife, heirs of William Dunnington.

THE Complainant alleged in his bill that the Respondents have in possession the real estate of their deceased father Wm. Dunnington, whose personal estate was not sufficient for the payment of his debts. Wm. Dunnington's estate is indebted to the complainant in a large sum of money. The object of the bill is to procure a decree for the sale of the land, for the payment of the debts remaining unpaid by the personal estate. Some of the heirs of Wm. Dunnington are non-residents.—It is thereupon, at motion of the Complainant, ordered that he cause a copy of this order to be inserted in the Alexandria Gazette for the space of three months, to the intent that the absent defendants may have notice of this application, and of the subject and object of the bill, and may be warned to appear in this court in person or by a solicitor, to shew cause, if any there be, wherefore a decree should not pass as prayed. Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.

IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.

THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phenomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition; so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstruse calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavored to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of any author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.

The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo. THOMAS COOPER, M. D. CONDITORS.
I. The work will be printed on a superfine paper, with a new small pica letter; and will be published early in the ensuing summer.
II. It will be illustrated with a number of cuts, of which several have been necessarily added to the London edition.
III. It will be delivered to subscribers at $12 to non-subscribers at $14, in boards. The London edition sells for $18.

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE'S MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges.

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar title so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or gripping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders.

The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Tape or large round worm; the Ascariides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitinae or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tenia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended.

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West India and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance; they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir.

To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative.

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Disorders, Violent cramps in the stomach and back, Indigestion, Loss of appetite, Impurity of blood, Melancholy, Hysterical affection, Gout in the stomach, Inward weaknesses, Pains in the limbs, and debility, Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true German Corn Plaster.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing their root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ring-worms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness, or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops.

To the friends of Humanity.

AN aged, infirm, and widowed mother, is desirous to receive information of THOMAS BURTON CARTER, an only son, concerning whom she has not heard any thing, on which reliance can be placed, for nearly three years. He removed from this place to the state of Ohio about five years ago. The last certain account she had from him, was from Cadiz in that state. He is about twenty five years of age; by trade a tailor. Vague rumours have recently pronounced him dead. A letter communicating information relative to him, directed to Henry Tutwiler, P. M. at this place, would confer a peculiar kindness on an afflicted woman.

Editors of Newspapers generally, are intreated to give this article a place in their columns a few weeks.
